WORLD SOCIAL SECURITY SUMMIT

18 OCTOBER 2019

The Summit will be the highlight of the World Social Security Forum (WSSF) that will take place in Brussels, Belgium, from 14 to 18 October 2019. Attended by more than 1,000 social security leaders from 150 countries, the WSSF will be a key event for shaping the future of social security globally.

WHY ATTEND THE WORLD SOCIAL SECURITY SUMMIT?

High-level panel

Ministers and leading personalities from international organizations will take part. Previous summits have included high-level representation from Argentina, Brazil, China, India, Nigeria, the Russian Federation, Spain, the International Labour Office, the United Nations and the World Bank.

Influence

Realizing the global commitment to universal social protection requires innovative approaches. The Summit is a major opportunity to shape social protection strategies that protect people against evolving risks, not least in the context of a changing world of work and remaining coverage gaps.

Network

The Summit and the WSSF is an opportunity to meet with key decision makers on social security from around the world.

Visibility

The World Social Security Forum will have high-level delegates from 150 countries, be broadcasted to the global audience of ISSA member institutions and attract international media attention.

The World Social Security Summit will be a defining moment for the global discussion on preparing social security for the future.
